Poems:

Sing A Song Of Sixpence

Sing a song of sixpence,
A pocket full of rye;
Four and twenty blackbirds
Baked in a pie.
When the pie was opened
The birds began to sing;
Wasn't that a dainty dish
To set before the king?
The king was in his counting house
Counting out his money;
The queen was in the parlor
Eating bread and honey.
The maid was in the garden
Hanging out the clothes,
When down came a blackbird,
And pecked off her nose.

Frost On The Flower

by Charles Causley

Frost on the flower,
Leaf and frond,
Snow on the field-path,
Ice on the pond.
Out of the east
A white wind comes.
Hail on the rooftop
Kettledrums.
Snow-fog wanders
Hollow and hill.
Along the valley
The stream is still.
Thunder and lightning.
Down slaps the rain.
No doubt about it.
Summer again.
